From the chairman

HAROLD GOODWIN

Over the early summer each year we see the society's two main educational events, Open House, which next year celebrates its 50th anniversary, and Open Gardens.

Faversham attracts many visitors who come to the town to enjoy our streetscapes. There are 345 listed buildings in Faversham, one of the highest concentrations in the country. Residents enjoy these streetscapes regularly and visitors come to the town to see them.

Open House makes an important contribution to the fulfilment of our educational objectives and to the society's funds. Each year some of Faversham's most iconic buildings are open so people may see behind the façade and understand and appreciate the architecture of the interiors. Open House has an important educational impact.

Open Gardens at the end of each June provides an opportunity for residents and visitors alike to enjoy the gardens of Faversham and to meet the gardeners who have created such a wealth of experiences. On Open Gardens Saturday each year the
